FATHER COENEN DEAD.

Beloved Priest Passes Away at This Place After Six Weeks' Illness.

SERVED CHURCH HERE FOR NEARLY THIRTY YEARS

Laid to Rest Yesterday Beside Departed Ones of His Congregation.

HE REQUESTED SIMPLE FUNERAL.

The simple life of the good man was ended. His spirit had fled. They took his body from the church where he had led so long and the church was desolate.

Yesterday morning after mass, which was held at 9 o'clock, the remains of Father Coenen were interred in the Catholic cemetery, where rest many of the congregation to which he has ministered so faithfully and so long. Only the service of the mass was pronounced, mingled with the solemn notes of the organ and the voices he had loved in song. No eulogy was said, no review of his simple and devoted life recounted. There were no flowers, no personal pomp, no wreath of laurel held aloft to symbolize his faithful work, his good achievements. It was against the impulse of those who gathered to show their last, sincere respect, but the priest had said he wished his funeral thus simple, and so it was.

Father Lynch, of Henderson, deane of this district, was celebrant of the mass; Father Bachman, of Louisville, deacon; and Father Michael Melody, of Louisville, sub-deacon. Father Oranney, of Morganfield, was master of ceremonies. Father Welsh, of Hopkinsville, and Father McNeal, of Columbia, were also in the sanctuary. Bishop McCloskey had announced his intention to come, but he has been quite ill himself and is not yet ready to travel. Telegrams were received from other priests who were detained by illness.

The pall bearers were: L. H. O'Brien, James Fagan, Henry McDowell, Patrick Whalen, Thomas Blair and Louis Houlihan.

The Rev. Alphonsus Mary Coenen died Monday morning about 7 o'clock at the rectory of the Catholic Church of Immaculate Conception after an illness of six weeks, which had from the beginning been pronounced fatal. The malady which caused death of this beloved priest was a cancerous affection of the esophagus which was beyond human skill to cure. His death had been looked forward to as a certainty which only his good constitution and strong will could postpone a few days. The decline was gradual and during the most of his illness he was able to receive his friends and enjoy their company. Unconsciousness came on Saturday morning and after that death was expected hourly but did not occur until forty-eight hours later.

The deceased is survived by two brothers and one sister; Julius Coenen, of this place, Joseph Coenen, of Louisville, and Mrs. Sedona Courtot, of Dallas, Tex. The young son of Joseph Coenen accompanied him here. Mrs. Courtot is quite ill in Texas and could not come.

Father Coenen was born at Leon, Belgium, September 2nd, 1838, son of Adolphus and Hortense Coenen, both of whom came to Earlington after he took charge of the Earlington congregation and both of whom died here. The father died in the old frame building then occupied as the rectory, the mother died a few years ago in the new brick rectory in which the priest has just expired.

REV. ALPHONSIUS MARY COENEN.

Father Coenen came to this country about forty-three years ago and went to Louisville, Ky., where he acted as assistant to the Rev. L. Bax, who was then and is yet the pastor of St. John's Catholic church. In detail the history of his ministry was as follows: He was ordained at Malines, Belgium, at the age were held in an old log house, used as a school house, which stood on the site now occupied by the residence of Mr. Frank D. Rash and just across Farren avenue from the handsome brick church that has been the home of the congregation for nineteen years. Later a small, frame church was erected which served for many years until it was moved back to give place to the substantial two story brick Parochial School building which is occupied daily by about one hundred children under the tutelage of four Sisters of Charity of Nazareth. The school house was built in 1883 and the church in 1886.

The little charge of a handful of communicants here when Father Coenen made Earlington his home for the first time has increased to a faithful congregation of some sixty families. The material advancement has been from the free country air and the friendly shade of a cedar tree to the church ownership and occupancy of handsomely designed of twenty-three, on Sept. 21st, 1861, by Cardinal Sterckx, after which he came to the United States to be assistant at St. John's Church, Louisville, Ky., in which capacity he served from the 1st day of June, 1862, to September, 1870. He was assistant at the Cathedral in Louisville from September, 1870, to November, 1871. He then became pastor of St. Augustin's Church in Louisville, from November, 1871, to December, 1872. From Louisville he was transferred to Henderson where he was pastor of that congregation from December 1st, 1872, to May 29th, 1875. Then began his ministry here which was continuous until the time of his death, Monday morning, February 13th, 1905. During his priesthood at Henderson he visited Earlington periodically and ministered to the few Catholics living here then. Later, by his own request, he was removed to this place and given charge of the Earlington congregation, then in its infancy.

COLDEST

Monday Records Minimum Temperature in Exactly Six Years.

WIND EMPHASIZES THE BITTER COLD.

This week has broken the record for cold days since February 1890.

The minimum temperature for this winter was recorded Monday morning the 13th, when the mercury went to 5 degrees below zero. Tuesday was the coldest day throughout, with a minimum of 4 below zero and a maximum of 7 above. A keen wind added to the personal discomfort and ears and toes of the unwary have been frostbitten.

Later in life he composed several masses, some of which have been in use in other churches of the Louisville diocese for years. Father Coenen was a learned man, an energetic worker and a close student of men and things. He was beloved of his congregation and endeared to many outside his own church. His presence and his influence will be sadly missed and the resources of his church will be taxed to fill his place.

ROUGH HOUSE

Started on Train by Some Manning Men Monday—Were Overloaded With Bug Juice.

Coming from Madisonville on train 51 Monday were some people from Mannington who had been attending court as witnesses in the McIntosh murder case. They were pretty well tanked and were evidently discussing the erratic movements of Hopkins county justice, when some of the number became excited and in the heated argument the lie was passed. In a brief space of time the air of the coach was quite blue and had a sulphuric odor, knives and bright shiny things that looked like guns were pulled.

By this time the train had stopped at the coal chute for coal and C. H. McGary, Mr. Mulhausen, the Armour meat man, and Mrs. Harriett Browning, of this city, left the ladies coach in which the scrap was going on and sought refuge in the sleeper.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

Old Board Reappointed With Exception of One Man.

Frankfort, Ky., February 11.—Governor Beaman today announced the appointment of the following members of the State Board of Equalization for this year:

First Appellate District, Henry F. Oliver, of Fulton; Second District, Ab G. Rhea, of Russellville; Third District, F. J. Campbell, of Somerset; Fourth District, Dr. J. P. Steedman, of Louisville; Fifth District, M. J. Meagher, of Franklin; Sixth District, Rollin K. Hart, of Fleming; Seventh District, Henry Cox, of West Liberty.

This is the same board that served last year, with the exception of Henry Cox.

The board will meet here on February 28, the meeting having been postponed because of the want of county officials to send recapitulation books.

L. & N. WILL ERECT BUILDINGS

At Nortonville for Use of Employees.

The L. & N. R. R. has purchased a plot of ground at Nortonville and will in short time begin the erection of several buildings at that place for the benefit of their employees. Houses are scarce in Nortonville and this action is taken by the company to provide a place for the men and avoid inconvenience in future.

It is said that the Prince of Wales has nineteen pianos in his house. That would be tough on a poor man, but we suppose the Prince is able to have other places to go to while the performances are taking place.

MRS. NETTIE MARTIN

An Humble Follower of the Meek and Lowly Jesus Falls Asleep.

Saturday evening about six o'clock the gentle spirit of Mrs. Nettie Martin, wife of C. T. Martin, of this place, winged its way to a fairer world above. The patient sufferer had been ill for several days with lung trouble and was naturally of a weak constitution.

Although her recovery was not expected it was thought she would linger for several days. Mrs. Martin was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church of Springfield, Tenn., and had been for years.

She was deeply religious and passed from this world as quietly and peacefully as if she were but going to sleep. Her devoted husband and children and Mrs. Edna Robinson, whom she had raised from a child, were with her to the last.

As soon as the sad news was made known neighbors and friends hurried in to pay their respects to the dead and console the living.

Mrs. Martin was 48 years old and was a member of the Golden Cross having lately moved her membership to this place from Springfield.

She was interred at the Earlington cemetery Monday afternoon at three o'clock under the auspices of the United Order of the Golden Cross the funeral being preached at the residence by Rev. J. E. King.

The coldest day last winter was Jan. 27, minimum 2 degrees, maximum 33 degrees.

The last time the mercury got below this week's record was on Dec. 18, 1901 when the minimum was 10 degrees below zero.

No serious results have been caused by the present low temperature in the operation of coal mining plants or the railroads.

On the railroads traffic is very heavy and the crews have full work. The mines are exceedingly busy. General bustle has kept everything hot enough to move lively.

The heating plant at the Catholic Church has been broken down for some time and the building is being heated by large stoves this week. The heating plant in the St. Bernard building was disabled Monday morning by a bursted pipe, which has since been repaired.

ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

Tuesday was St. Valentine's day. It was a day of bliss to some and a day of disappointment to others. While the elaborate love making valentine begets joy and happiness the comic one causes dismay and misery. The former is sent with a heartful of love and kind wishes, while the latter ludi-ciously displays the faults and frailties of human nature, and the valentine fiend never neglects an opportunity to remind his or her acquaintances of their faults and defects on this particular day. While the comic valentine is often sent in a spirit of pure mischief and sport, nevertheless it causes many a heart ache and the torture inflicted is just as acute as though it had been sent in good earnest. The comic valentine is a nuisance and should be suppressed.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN

Under Sentence of Death in Kentucky.

There are thirteen men under the death sentence in Kentucky. This is a startling announcement to say the least. Probably at no time in the history of the state has there been thirteen men at one time awaiting death on the gallows. It is, perhaps a record equalled by no other state.

The great American hen laid 20,000,000 eggs last year. She is entitled to a little winter rest.

The famous Faust family of Nine Australian Acrobats will be the crowning feature of the Ted E. Faust minstrels that are to appear at Temple Theatre Feb. 23. Their names are known the world over. They have appeared in all the high-priced theatres and circuses. For many years in this country, they were the big act with the Al. G. Field's Minstrels. They are the highest salaried acrobats. Their feats of daring and agility are supreme. They lead, others follow. Included in the Faust family are the smallest acrobate ever born to live. Master Ray Faust is such a tiny morsel that critics in speaking of him have said: "He is a mere button." The Fausts are the darlings of the sunshine." Ted E. Faust, owner of the Faust minstrels, is at the head of the family. He has an unblemished record; his motto is embossed in his card to the public when he says, "The Faust Minstrels shall always be clean and honest."

Col. Henry Waterson, of Kentucky, recently told a story of an old dray down south who was informed that if he was bitten by a snake and drank a quart of whisky the snake would die and he would go uncathed. When You Have a Cold.

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs.

This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Compound Remedy. This compound relieves the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, providing a free circulation, which opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less than an hour. It is safe and in fact cures the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia.

St. Valentine Party.

A most delightful and novel

valentine party was the one

Tuesday night given by Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Evans to their son,

Miller. At seven thirty o'clock their lovely home was merry

with the happy voices of children admiring the beautiful decorations, suggestive of the day and eager to know the secrets of "Cupid's door," a unique arrangement in the hall under which the children slipped their valentines on entering. The postoffice was most attractively constructed in the bay window of the parlor and prettily decorated with red hearts.

Miss Lillian Evans acting as postmistress soon delivered to each guest a lovely valentine made by the hostess. After playing several games they were invited into the dining room which was a thing of beauty.

The delicious consisted of frozen hearts, sweet hearts, candies, salted almonds, cake and fruits,

the favors being heart-shaped valentines. After doing justice to these delicacies cupid's door was opened and many lovely valentines were found there for the happy children after which they said good night and were soon doubtless dreaming of Cupid and his loved tipped darts.

Besides the thirty children

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs.

Stella M. Keplin, Misses Lillian

and Ethel Evans and Elsworth

Evans were present and assisted Mr. and Mrs. Evans in entertaining.

How would have the American people return to Jeffersonian simplicity, he says.

Besides, he does not feel hilarious over the prospect of four years more of

For several reasons we have been delayed in inaugurating our GREAT MID-WINTER CLEARANCE SALE. We have at last, however, gotten every thing in "ship shape" and are determined to make this "clearing up sale" the greatest success of our life. Beginning Wednesday, February 8th, we shall place before the bargain hunter more genuine bargains---bargains with more meat in them than he or she has ever had an opportunity to take advantage of.

FIRST FLOOR BARGAINS.

Here we cannot enter into particulars. In our immense SHOE stock we are showing numbers of Good Wearing shoes bearing the "clean up" mark which means they must move, and the lever used is a discount of 20 to 33½ per cent. Most prominent on the Dry Goods side are one lot Damask Portieres at about one-half price, and a big lot each of Silk and Velvet Remnants that may run the ladies crazy when they get into them. These Silks and Velvets are wonderful bargains.

SHIRTS.

A Stiff Front Shirt, all should agree, is the only correct thing for winter wear.

For some "unreasonable reason" however they have been abandoned and in consequence, we include in this great Sacrificing Sale the following:

168 Stiff Front Fancy Shirts.
"Gold," "Silver" and "Monarch."
$1.50 grade cut to	30c
$1.00 grade cut to	30c

Prices Cut Half in Two.

And in connection with this greatest of Clearance Sale, we have arranged to carry on a White Goods and Embroidery sale, which we think may prove the attractive feature of our February business.

For handling these we have placed a row of counters right down the center of our lower room, thus enabling quite a number of ladies to get a clean sweep at them at a time.

Standing room for you on both sides of the counters you see, and every thing being plainly marked there is no chance for friction.

10 cents

Upon one counter we are showing 4,469 yards of Embroidery at
In this lot are both Jaconet and Swiss---Edges and Insertions.
Width of Edges from 2½ to 10 inches.

Upon an other counter are 2,103 yards of Embroidery at and about 150 yards at 12-1-2 cents a yard.

And throughout our White Goods, such as India Linens, Fancy White Goods, and our great stock of Table Linens we are making prices that guarantee a colossal business there in.

This is a "departure" for us and we earnestly ask each and every lady in Hopkins county to come and help us make it a great success. We certainly have done our part and the door is open to you.

In all candor we assure the trade. In this combined "Clearance, White Goods and Embroidery" sale we are offering the greatest values of our experience.

Come in, take your time and get your choice. Time from Feby. 8th to March 1st, 1905.

N. B.---We were about to omit two important facts. One is, we have quite a good assortment of Gum Boots on which we are making a discount of 20 per cent. and the other:

No goods are to be sold on credit during this sale.

The damage suit against Richard W. Knott, editor of the Louisville Evening Post, charging criminal libel because of statements published in reference to a disreputable saloon and its keeper named Sharkey, developed some racy evidence which brands Sharkey and his joint as blackly as The Post could have done in any publication. Notwithstanding the evidence, a jury has fined Mr. Knott and The Post $500 jointly and the respectable element of Louisville felt outraged. The case will be contested to the bitter end.

Somphony is making a signal failure in the matter of the Louisville military muddle. The Bee is not a member of the State Guard nor yet of the regular army and hesitates to assume the role of military critic at this distance from the front, but it would not be hard to get a confidential opinion upon the merits of the case from many a soldier in Kentucky. And this opinion might not be very complimentary to certain high officials who are looking closely after certain technical features.

ANYBODY who occupies the position of a "doubting Thomas?" with reference to the importance of the coal mining industry to the general welfare of the country is respectfully invited to visit Earlington in these strenuous times and look on the busy workers and the enormous products of their labor.

A CAD in Indianapolis posing as an evangelist whipped his wife with a skillet and kicked his mother-in-law's chair over. He said he had acted by "divine commission." He had not heard of the Glenn-Roosevelt whipping post.

THE city of Louisville has distributed 60,000 bushels of free coal to the city's poor this winter and the supply is exhausted. There are some advantages in living near a coal mine or even a sulphur pile.

THE legislators are no longer on the hunt of a site but are sighting along the barrel to catch the cut of their constituents eyes.

GREAT ICE GORGE AT HICKMAN.

One of the Greatest Sights Ever Seen.

The greatest ice gorge ever beheld in any Southern section is at Hickman, Ky., where a mile long series of ice blocks, and sheets of ice as far as the eye can see is one continuous mass of glistening snow and ice piled upon the other until there is no estimate of the quantity. Both below and above, the gorge surface has formed a bridge of solid icy masonry over which people cross impudently side to Missouri with impunity.

What damage the breaking will do cannot be told, but it will crush whatever is in its path and great fears are felt for whatever may result.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

What Advertising Did.

Thirty-five years ago antelope grazed in Fresno county, Cal. Thirty-two years there was but one house in the town of Fresno in the central desert of California. Today Fresno is the center of a community of 8000 homes and of industries yielding $14,000,000 annually. French Strother describes in the World's Work for February the wonderful development of that region largely through irrigation; its olive and raisin-growing, its scientific diversified farming, etc., and presents views of life there enough to start folks thinking California-wise. He notes that the most potent element in the development of the resources of Fresno county is the public sense of the value of persistent advertising, and tells how the Chamber of Commerce, the railroads and individuals have joined to attract desirable new people. Mr. Strother's article in itself is a first-class advertisement of Fresno, and it is worthy of serious study by communities in the South which have many more natural advantages than Fresno, but have not yet acquired the knack of making those advantages widely known.

FOUND A ROCK
In No. II Mine the Exact Shape of a Boy's Foot and Leg.

Fried Feiler, the genial weigh-master of No. 11, found a rock in
No. 11 mine one day recently embedded in a vein of coal that was the exact reproduction of a human foot and a portion of the leg half way to the knee. The ankle and heel were perfect but the toes had crumbled away. The rock was of a dark brown color and had every appearance of having been hidden away in this vein of coal for ages.

That mysterious "Powerful Person" seems still to be the protector of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick who has succeeded in gaining her liberty.

RAILROADS GET
NO SYMPATHY

WRITTEN FOR THE BEE
BY BLUE G. BARD

Who sympathizes with a railroad company? No one unless it be an officer or employee.

If a costly bridge goes down, if an express train jumps the track, smashing the coaches and Pullman's and ruining the locomotive, if a handsome station house burns in the city there are few to express sorrow or regret over the company's loss. If a private individual loses his house, or cow, or mother-in law there are no end of sympathetic friends and neighbors to weep with him and assist him in bemoaning his sad loss. But it is not thus with the "soulless" corporation. It is an Ishmaelite, an impersonal thing, every man's hand is against it, and a large majority are patiently waiting a chance to bring suit.

The railroad breaks up your furniture it is transporting and never says a word about paying you unless you make out a claim. Its trains run over your stock and cattle and set fire to your wheat fields and a cunning man of brains is retained to prevent you from recovering twice the value of the damage done and hence it has come about that it is perfectly justifiable and the proper thing to beat the railroad company if you can.

I have known some good church members to accept a free ride when the conductor failed to collect their fare. The sympathy that does not exist for the company extends itself to the owner of the cow or horse killed by a passing train. The defunct animal may have been a stack of bones and a dead expense to the owner, but let the company kill it and it at once becomes fat and frisky and so raised a pet by some member of the family and was consequently worth twice as much as an ordinary animal and all the neighbors will cheerfully swear to it be they Democrats, Republicans, Populists, or Adventists. And although they were never known to agree on anything before they agreed on this one point, the railroad must be skinned.

And yet the railroad continues to conduct its business in the same old way, it hauls the farmer's corn and hogs to market and the farmer pays the freight, but what would the farmer do without the railroad? There would be no market for his wheat, and if there were he would have to haul it in a wagon. It would take one wagon 20 days to haul a car of corn from Guthrie to Hopkinsville at a cost of $100.00 white it can be moved in an hour by rail at a cost of about $17.00 and yet the people at least a large percent of them are continually knocking on the railroads.

If you wish to go East or West, North or South on pleasure or business the railroad takes you, it provides for your comfort while traveling. It takes your produce to market and creates a market for your produce. It buys your number of ties, it pays $50.00 for a $20.00 mile, it increases the value of your land, it gives your sons employment and pays them more than any other concern. Stop knocking on the railroads they are alright.

jurors read a newspaper prediction was made that the

"A Country Kid." H. B. Whit-

the Temple Theater, Feb. 10.

The play deals with life as seen in small Indiana towns and is said to be one of strong morals and an interesting plot, enlightened by better dialogue than is usually found in the ordinary run of comedy dramas.

It will be made notable by some peculiar stage pictures and will be interpreted by a company of well known actresses and actors. In their particular line, the author and his son Bill Scoville, who assumes the title of Bill Scoville, has at once jumped to the front rank of successful stars. Since its initial performance the play is said to have met with favor in all of the cities visited and will doubtless

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Nothing in railroad history gives in interest the wonder-career of W. H. Newman. It does not surpass it, but forty years ago Newman was a young man struggling along in Metcalfe county. He went to Louisville as a hotel clerk. Soon after, he was given a position with a small railroad in the South. He was promoted there and an offer of a better position with a western road soon followed. He was promoted again and again, until he held every position in the railroad service from station agent to president. Then the east called him and he became president of the New York Central. On the first day of February he was made president of the Big Four, Michigan Central and New York Central.

Mr. Newman is now the executive head of something like twenty—probably more—railroad corporations controlled by the Vanderbilt-Rockefeller-Morgan interests. In fact, he comes the executive head picturesquely of the Vanderbilt roads of the nation.

Mr. Newman now draws a salary probably much larger than that of the president of the United States. Thousand miles of railroad lines, and thousand of railroad employees, are subject to orders. He rides over his roads in a special car, and the eyes of the whole transportation world watch his every movement. In spite of it all, he is said by those of his friends of the long ago, who have met him in recent years, to be the same plain, unpretending, modest gentleman, and indefatigable worker, that he was in early life.

All this has been accomplished by a young man who left Metcalfe county penniless, backed by nothing but brains and energy, comparatively a few years ago. What a wonderful career is!—Glasgow Times.

Nashville, Tenn.—The Nashville & Huntsville Railway Co. has, it is reported, applied for a charter. It is said the company proposes to build part of an electric railway designed to run from Memphis, Tenn., via Nashville, Tenn., and Birmingham and Montgomery, Ala., to Pensacola, Fla. The line from Nashville to Huntsville will be 107 miles long. Capitalists of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Louis are said to be interested.

George P. Ashley, superintendent of construction for W. J. Oliver, the railroad contractor who is building the extension for the Illinois Central and Mobile and Ohio railroads at Wickliffe, met death about 2 o'clock last Thursday morning in a horrible manner. The car occupied by Ashley and his bookkeeper, Roy McClellan, as an office and temporary residence was destroyed by fire and the former burned to death.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is presumed to have caught from an overheated stove. Ashley and McClellan occupied a small room near one end of the car as a bedroom. McClellan was awakened by smoke in the bedroom and discovered that the other end of the car was in flames. He went to the bed occupied by Ashley and found it empty. He then made his escape through a window in the bedroom supposing that Ashley had already escaped.

It was learned later that Ashley had not been seen and his charred remains were found in the smouldering ashes. His remains were taken to his home in Aikin, N. C., for interment.

Grand River Coal

It is rumored that the I. C. has bought the iron furnaces at Grand Rivers and will operate them in supplying iron for its own uses only. It has been denied that there is any foundation for these, but it may be safely said that if it is not true, it should be. With the splendid machinery, the rich iron ore, and the facilities of the Railway Company to operate them it would be a good thing for the I. C. as well as for Grand Rivers.

Letters of an Engineer to His Master: Chapter No. 15.

Dear Sir:—A beautiful moonlight night is enjoyed by a thief and an engineer. Last night was, indeed, a most beautiful moonlight night, and to that fact more than any other is due our unexpected delay. Just before crossing Cyclone Rapid I saw lying across the track a short distance ahead of me a man. He might have been asleep, drunk or dead, but he was there—a man. I threw the Lightning Bolt Express into the emergency and slid every wheel in the train.

Again the passengers thought we were playing billy goat against the side of a mountain. Was it a man? No, simply the shadow of the trunk of a dead tree. Well, going around Ram's Horn curve I found piled on the track a car load of ties. Again I slid the train along the track, and stop. This I found to be the shadow of a pile of ties near the track. And so I kept seeing things on the track all night, and stopping the train, only to find that it was nothing but a shadow. The next moonlight night I shall give engineer Throthalarm or Manerod a chance, as they are claiming my run on their age, anyway. Conductor Punchen came around to the engine at Dunn's station and said the coaches were mighty rough riding on account of the flat wheels, and that he hated it very much as the General manager and the president were on the train, riding incognito.

Yours truly,
S. ANDY KOWETZER,
Engineer.

It is said to be assured that the Louisville & Nashville branch railway, which runs from Lexington to Providence, a distance of only twenty miles, will be extended to Shawneetown, Ill., passing through the rich coal, timber and farming lands of both Webster and Union counties, and connecting with the L. & N. at Shawneetown. The new addition, which would connect the two branch lines and make a solid line from this place to St. Louis, will be about forty miles. This would shorten the route from here to St. Louis and open up the way into some of the richest mineral lands in this section of the State.

NEWPORT LOSES.

Outrages by Union Foundry Workers Encouraged by Authorities.

MACHINE COMPANY FORCED TO MOVE ACROSS RIVER.

Cincinnati:—After having been subjected to six dynamite outrages, after having their workmen arrested and their buildings and premises attacked, the machine and foundry company decided to leave the Kentucky city, where lawlessness reigns supreme, to locate in Cincinnati.

It was the general opinion that the withdrawal of the Newport Foundry and Machine Company from Cincinnati was a blow to the interests of the manufacturing city that will vitiate the labors of the Commercial Club in getting new enterprises to locate in Newport, and will have a serious effect in causing other enterprises to locate in other cities.

The general opinion among the conservative people is that the reason for their leaving is the intense lawlessness of the city has been caused by Max Heimböld in sliding with the strikers and the lawless element, and in instructing the police to arrest the lawless element, and in instructing the police to arrest the strikebreakers and non-union men.

While the foundry was running profitably it paid 10 to its employees $1,200 weekly. This amount has dwindled to less than $400 weekly. Six times has the place been dynamited.

Nine times have the non-union men been beaten and maltreated. Three times have they been attempting to blow up the plant.

Four times have riots occurred. The last time, however, this ends the foundry trouble, but it also puts an end to enterprises locating in the beautiful city east of the Licking River.
